PRINTED DAILY
BY SAMUEL SNOWDEN.

Continuation of the latest Foreign Advices, received at the office of the "Philadelphia True American,"—and continued from our paper of yesterday.

STRASBOURG, 20th Vendemaire.

We have just learned the official news that Prince Murat has obtained a complete victory over the Auſtrians after a severe conteſt which laſted many hours, the Prince ſurrounded an Auſtrian diviſion of 15,000 men, cauſed them to lay down their arms, and made them priſoners of war.

The diviſion under Marſhal Angereau, is expected daily.

STUTGARD, October 9.

We have juſt been informed of the capture of the towns of Boffingen, Nordlingen, by the troops under the command of Marſhalls Lannes and Ney. The troops under Generals Bernadotte and Marmont are expected in the environs of Neubourgh. The Bavarian troops under General Deroz has arrived at Eiſchtell, and occupied it after having forced the Auſtrians to evacuate it.

The Auſtrians have evacuated almoſt the whole of the Upper Palatinate; there only remains two regiments of Horſe.

The Emperor of Auſtria, arrived at Vienna on the 30th September, the Emperor of Ruſſia was daily expected at the ſame place.

The vaſt plans conceived by the Empe.or Napoleon, has commenced. The different diviſions of the army of Holland, has reached the different places, where they are to act. The principal object of theſe movements is to prevent the reunion of the Ruſſian army with the Grand Auſtrian army, and ſuch is the nature of theſe movements, that every thing ſeems to combine to inſure complete ſucceſs.

It is ſaid Prince Paul of Wurtemberg accompanies his Majeſty the Emperor of the French in this campaign.

MANHEIM, October 9.

The Provincial Magiſtrates of Bohemia, have addreſſed a ſtrong remonſtrance to the Emperor of Auſtria, remonſtrating againſt the Ruſſian army paſſing through their territory, and ſtating how much the country had ſuffered formerly from ſimilar conduct.

By letters from Stutguard and other places through which, Napoleon, the Emperor, has paſſed; we learn, that it is impoſſible to conceive of the activity of this monarch: there are always three hundred horſemen in his retinue, who neither know the hour of departure or place of deſtination, until the very moment: at one o'clock in the night he goes to bed, and frequently is on his horſe at three o'clock.

WURTZBOURG, October 5.

All exportation of grain from the principalities of Wurtzbourg and Bamberg, is prohibited, under penalty of confiſcation; as alſo from Dantzic; at the latter, horſes are alſo prohibited.

PARIS, 25th Vendemaire, (Oct. 16.)

FIFTH BULLETIN OF THE GRAND ARMY.

Augsbourg, 20th Vendemaire, (12th Oct.)

Marſhal Soult has arrived with his diviſion of the army, at Landsberg, and has thereby cut off one of the greateſt communications of the enemy: he arrived on the 19th, at 4 o'clock in the morning: he there met with the regiment of Curaſſiers of Prince Ferdinand, which, with 6 pieces of cannon, retreated by forced marches towards Ulm.

Marſhal Soult ordered it to be attacked by the 26th regiment of chaſſeurs, by whom it was thrown into ſo much confuſion, that it fled, leaving 120 ſoldiers priſoners, 1 lieut. col. 2 captains & 2 pieces cannon. Marſhal Soult, who conceived they would continue their route towards Memmingen, had ſent forward ſeveral regiments to cut off their retreat, but they had retired, into the woods, where they rallied, and took refuge in the Tyrol.

Twenty pieces of cannon, and part of the baggage of the enemy had paſſed on the 18th, through Landsbey. Marſhal Soult dispatched general Sebaſtiani in purſuit of them, with a brigade of dragoons. It is expected they will be overtaken.

On the 20th marſhal Soult directed his march towards Memmingen, where he will arrive on ths 21st about day break.

Marſhal Bernadotte continued his march the whole of the 19th, and his van-guard was within 2 leagues of Munich. The baggage of ſeveral Auſtrian generals have fallen into the hands of our light troops. He has taken about 100 priſoners belonging to different regiments.

Marſhal Davouſt has marched towards Dachau. His van has arrived at Moiſach. The Huſſars of Blankentein were routed by his Chaſſeurs, and he has made about 60 priſoners in different engagements.

Prince Murat, with the cavalry of reſerve and the corps of marſhals Ney and Lannes, is poſted oppoſite the enemy's army, the right of which occupies Memmingen, and the left Ulm.

Marſhal Ney is on the Danube oppoſite Ulm.

Marſhal Lannes is at Weiſſenhorn.

General Marmont, is endeavoring, by forced marches, to take a poſition on the heights of Illersheim; and Marſhal Soult flanks from Memmingen, the right of the enemy.

The Imperial guard has left Augsburg for Burgau, where the Emperor will probably arrive to-night.

A deciſive action is about to take place. The Auſtrian army has almoſt all its communications cut off. It is now nearly in the ſame ſituation in which the army of Melas was at Marengo.

The emperor was on the bridge of Lech when the army of general Marmont paſſed it. He directed each regiment to form in a circle, and addreſſed them on the ſituation of the enemy, the near approach of a great engagement, and of the confidence he had in their bravery. This harangue took place in the midſt of an immenſe fall of ſnow, the troops were in the mud up to their knees and the weather extremely cold: but the words of the emperor warmed them: and in liſtening to him, the ſoldier forgot his fatigues and privations, and became impatient for the hour of combat.

Marſhal Bernadotte arrived at Munich, on the 20th, at 6 o'clock in the morning: he had taken 800 priſoners and in purſuit of the enemy. Prince Ferdinand was at Munich; it appears that he has abandoned his army of the Iller.

On no occaſion have ſuch great events been decided in leſs time. Before the expiration of two weeks, the fate of the campaign of the Auſtrian and Ruſſian armies will be decided.

One of our journals has the following article, under the date of "BERLIN, October 4. A report is in circulation, that a revolution has taken place at Peterſburg; the details of which are of ſo important a nature, that it would be imprudent to ſay any more on the ſubject, until we ſhall have received more particular and poſitive accounts of the tranſaction."

Poſitive accounts from Straſburg, which we have juſt received, announce the taking of Ulm. This is merely report, but we ought to be ſurpriſed at nothing, if we take into view the rapidity with which Napoleon I. executes his vaſt and complicated plans.

We have ſeen arrive at the ſame point, and nearly at the ſame moment, the armies from the coaſt of Breſt, of La Manche, of the bank of the Zuyder Sea, and from thoſe of the Baltic. We feel, we every where witneſs, the extraordinary genius which conceives and directs every thing. Behold the effect of that diverſion which England has wiſhed to produce upon the continent! How terrible a ſcourge to Europe, is the Engliſh Government!

VIENNA, Oct. 3.—General Kulusow, Commander in Chief of the Ruſſian army, which is now marching through Lower Auſtria, is momently expected here. Between the 3d and 9th of this month, all the diviſions of this army will have paſſed the Danube at two points, near Polten and near Kems. To accelerate the march of this army, ſixteen hundred waggons have been put in requiſition in the different circles: a part of which has already been forwarded to meet the Ruſſians.

The War has ſcarcely commenced, and we already experience all its calamities: the Court Gazette of the 28th, contains the following official article, which has thrown the whole capital into conſternation. "The urgent neceſſities of the State renders the eſtabliſhment of additional taxes neceſſary. They will be divided into three claſſes: to wit: 1ſt. An extraordinary tax upon funded property: a tax, according to rank, as already laid in the preſent year: and 3d. An extraordinary capitation tax. These heavy impoſitions, the weight is alone ſufficient to ruin us, are, independent of enormous contributions in grain and forage which are demanded. The States of Bohemia, have addreſſed to the Governor energetic remonſtrances on the ſubject, which appear to be dictated by deſpair.

Wurtzburgh, Oct. 8.

His Highneſs the Elector Bavaria-palatinate has been informed this day, by a courier, that the French army had paſſed the Danube, and that the Auſtrian troops had retreated. The corps of the army under the command of Lieut. Gen. Durroc, muſt alſo by this time, have paſſed that river. Our moſt ſerene elector yeſterday received intelligence from the imperial reſidence of a very ſatisfactory nature.

The Bavarian army in conjunction with that of Marſhall Bernadotte, has entered the Upper Palatinate. The officers write that it is neceſſary to make war on the ſide of Frenchmen in order to learn how to act without loſs of time. No heavy baggage, no tents, except thoſe of the Generals. Every one is on foot, and on the alert: inſtead of bread, biſcuit made of excellent flour, which is extremely nouriſhing. We progreſs from 10 to 12 leagues daily.

Frankfort Oct. 10.

The vaſt plan conceived by the emperor Napoleon begins to develope itſelf. The different corps of the army of Germany have at this moment arrived at their reſpective points of action. The principal object of this ſudden, and well directed movement is to prevent the junction of the Ruſſian army with the main army of the Auſtrians, by cutting off the latter and throwing it back upon the Tyrol. For this purpoſe a great part of the French forces has advanced towards Donawerth and Ingolſtadt, to make itſelf maſter of the Danube, to paſs that river and to flank the Auſtrians upon the Iller, from Ulm to Memingen. This appears to be the plan of the French, and every thing announces, that it will be crowned with ſucceſs.

Letters from Stutgard and other places through which the emperor has paſſed give an aſtoniſhing idea of the activity of this monarch. The day of his arrival at Ludwigaburg, although very much fatigued, he paid a viſit to the Elector and his lady. At one o'clock in the morning he retired to reſt and roſe at threee. He has conſtantly three hundred horſes, his ſuite, ſaddled and ready to ſet off at a moments warning: ſo that no one knows the hour of their departure or deſtination.

ULM, October 11.

Bulletin of the operations of the Auſtrian army, (extracted from a private letter.

In the beginning of this month a conſiderable corps of Auſtrian troops was concentrated in our environs. This corps formed a part of the main army; the count de Giulay, Field Marſhal Lieutenant, was appointed commandant.

The Arch Duke Ferdinand, General in Chief, who arrived on the 4th, returned on the 5th to Mindelheim.

In the night of the 4th and 5th, ſeveral regiments of the advanced guard of the Auſtrians, who had retired to the entrance of the Black Forest, arrived here with their commandant, general count Klenau.

On the morning of the 5th general Mack alſo arrived. The works for re-eſtabliſhing our fortifications not being in forwardneſs, 6000 additional peaſants, and a great number of the inhabitants of our city were put in requiſition. We worked all night by torch light.

On the 5th the troops aſſembled in the city, and the neighboring villages were greatly reinforced. We ſaw arrive in proceſſion the regiment of the Curaſſiers of Mack, that of the light horſe of Klenau, that of Schartzenberg Houlans, more than 6000 infantry from the borders of the Iller, on the ſide of Memmingen, Lentkeich, &c. alſo arrived, and continued their march in aſcending the Danube.

On the 6th the Auſtrian generals were greatly alarmed: they had been informed that detachments of French cavalry, from the corps of the army poſted at Villengen and Gaudelfingen, were advanced on the left bank of the Danube as far as Flehengen and Riedheim, oppoſite Liepheim. The regiment of the Curaſſieurs of Mack ſet out at a gallop to attack, and if poſſible, drive back the French detachments.

Information was received on the 7th that the French had arrived in great force at Nordlingen, and were marching for Donawerth, probably with a view to paſs the Danube, at that place.

In the night of the 6th and 7th, a conſiderable corps of the army had been aſſembled in haſte at Gunzbourg; on the 7th, it was reinforced, and gen. Mack, arrived to command in perſon.

At 5 o'clock in the morning of the 8th, a courier arrived from gen. Mack, to order the generals, who were in our city, or in its vicinity, to march immediately. The ſame morning, the main Auſtrian army, which arriving from Buchau, and Redlingen, had for ſeveral days been aſſembled in our environs, was put in motion and deſcended the Danube on each bank of that river. This unexpected departure of the army occaſioned great joy in our city; and it was hoped that we ſhould not again ſee the Auſtrians, who, having lived at free quarters, had occaſioned the greateſt ſcarcity of proviſions, which cannot be wondered at, when it is conſidered that for ſeveral ſucceſſive days our ſmall town had been burthened with 25,000 men.

The Auſtrian head quarters was alſo removed on the 8th to Bergau. On the ſame day M. Stainker, the Auſtrian commiſſary at Stutgard, arrived at Ulm, on his way to head-quarters, where he was to ſucceed the count d'Aicholt, as civil commiſſary with the army.

During the whole of the 9th, a heavy cannonade was heard proceeding from the lower Danube. In the night of the 8th and 9th, a part of the army, which had been ſtationed on the Lake of Conſtance, and which had reached the Danube by forced marches, arrived here, and alſo four battallions of grenadiers from Biberach.

The command of our city and its environs was confided to the Auſtrian Field Marſhal lieut. Zellachich.

On the 9th we learned that the Auſtrians intended in the night of the 9th and 10th, to have attacked that part of the French army which had paſſed the Danube at Donawerth. Gen. Mack, ſuppoſed that he ſhould eaſily ſucceed in compelling the French to recroſs the river, and in re-eſtabliſhing his communications with Bavaria.—But the defeat of one of his corps at Wertingen, on the 8th, appeared to have decided him to renounce the attempt, and again to retire to the Iller.

In the night of the 9th and 10th, the Archduke Ferdinand, General Mack, and many other generals, arrived in this city, which continues to be the head quarters.

Yeſterday (the 10th) a ſtrong body of the army paſſed through our city, on its way to the left bank of the Danube. It will take a concentrated poſition at Wiesenſteig, and on the mountains of the Alb.

It is reported, that General Mack, perceiving the impoſſibility of maintaining his poſition in Suabia, and of paſſing again into Bavaria, has conceived the hazardous project of retiring, by forced marches, through Lower Suabia & Franconia into the Upper Palatinate—but it is difficult to imagine how this intention can be executed without expoſing his retreat to be cut off by the French army.

The Auſtrian generals and officers, concede that things are in a very dangerous poſition.

There was a bloody action yeſterday in the environs of Gunzbourg, in which the Auſtrians were repulſed with the loſs of many men. It is ſaid that they have retired by the bridge of communication which they had eſtabliſhed on the left bank of the Danube.

The laſt letters from Augsbourg, received here are of the 8th, (ſince which the courier has not arrived.) The French were then at Mettengen, ſome leagues from Augsbourg. Two days before the work on the fortifications on Ingoldſtadt, had been ſuſpended. Several Auſtrian regiments from the Tyrol had paſſed by Augsbourg, others by Kempton, directing their march to Memmingen. The corps of general Kienmayer, conſiſting of 10,000 men, which had been ſtationed in the environs of Nordlingen, has retired upon Neubourg, where it paſſed the Danube, and afterwards retreated to Aichbach, and thence to Landsberg, on the Lech.

PHILADELPHIA, December 9.

By the French papers it appears, that the Bulletin's Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, are official communications and deſerve the full credit that is uſual to ſuch documents, and as they appear to give a regular detail of the movements of the French army, we have collected them to follow each other, that thereby our readers may have the whole at one view. The common editorial accounts and remarks follow.

The papers we have received, are full of intended marches and countermarches, addreſſes of the Generals to the army of the Emperor, to the different officers, and every thing tends to inculcate the idea, that the French are determined to follow up their firſt ſucceſs, by the moſt vigorous conduct, realizing the old proverb, that the firſt blow, if well ſtruck, is half the battle—More tranſlations to-morrow.

Yeſterday arrived the ſhip Eolus, of Portſmouth, (N. H.) Capt. Treadwell, in 96 days from Tonningen. Left there 20th Auguſt, brig Catharine, of Alexandria, for Philadelphia, with paſſengers. NINTH CONGRESS,
OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, December 9.

Petitions, &c. presented the House of Representatives on Monday, 9th Dec. 1805.

Petition from the crew of the late frigate Philadelphia, stating that certain allowances, in such cases made and provided, had not been given to them—that the deprivation of such fell heavy upon them during their long confinement in Tripoli. The petition enumerated Tobacco, and other small necessaries, the comfort of seamen, also for jail-money. Referred to the committee of claims.

Ordered, That a committee be appointed to prepare rules and regulations for the better government of the army of the U. States.

Petition of Thomas Spalding, stating, that at the last election for Georgia, he was a candidate to represent them in this house—that he had 4504 votes; whereas the sitting member had only 4465. That the governor of Georgia was enjoined to make a return in twenty-five days, in which time three counties had not returned a state of the poll, owing to a hurricane which happened on the 8th September last.

Referred to a committee of elections.

Petition of John Riley, for military services.

Referred to a committee of claims.

Petition of Wm. Wedderburg, stating that he purchased the rights of several soldiers and others, which were burnt at the public offices.

Referred to the committee of claims.

Petition of Edward Briggs, of Rhode-Island.

Referred to a committee of commerce and manufactures.

TUESDAY, December 10.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT (not confidential) covering certain documents of facts, relative to the aggressions committed by Spain, upon the commerce and citizens of the United States.

They state robberies to have been committed by Spaniards in Louisiana in the ceded territory to the United States, and the obstruction of our commerce in the River Mobile.

Referred to a select committee.

Mr. Dawson moved that the bill prohibiting the exportation of arms and ammunition out of the United States be again proceeded upon.

The bill was read with the blanks filled up as agreed upon yesterday.

Mr. Crowningshield thought it would be best to disagree to that part which was filled up "one hundred dollars for the purpose of inserting a larger sum." There are often said he three or four shippers in one vessel, and if among their several shipments there be found, of the articles named to the amount of one hundred dollars, the vessels is forfeited, and the master liable to be indicted, and fined one thousand dollars. This was going too far. Fifty pound of gun powder was often worth one hundred dollars, and for this trifle, these consequences may ensue.——He thought the quantity found on board should be of the value of five hundred dollars at least.

A motion was read and carried to this effect.

Affirmative 77.

It was then moved to insert after the word "cannon" the word "balls"—for it was now discovered, that though cannon were prohibited, yet that very necessary appendage to it, the ball, was omitted.

Mr. Nicholson moved to amend the bill by inserting, "or from the territories of the United States by land or water."

Mr. Gregg did not wish to prevent the bill passing—but he wished to know, what necessity there was for it. He found no fault upon the secretary at war, to say what quantity of arms and ammunition was in possession of government——nor did he know what quantity was in the U. States—he therefore wished for information before the bill proceed further.

The Speaker replied, there was no question before the House, when the engrossed bill was read, observations and amendments might be made.

Mr. Nicholson—As the bill now stands, it respects the exportation by water only. No provision is made to prevent it by land—There is no penalty on waggons and carriages taking the articles enumerated in the bill, out of the United States. He therefore moved an amendment to that effect.

Mr. Gregg observed that in an exportation by land, they would chiefly be carried by pack horses, and they were not included in the last motion.

It was now discovered that the word "mortars" was also omitted in the bill and a motion was made to add the word.

Mr. Nicholson in order to get rid of these motions, moved the re-commitment of the bill that it might go back to the committee who framed it, to prepare a new one. Agreed.

Mr. Sloan offered the following resolution.

Resolved, That a tax or duty of ten dollars per head, be imposed on every slave hereafter imported into the U. States, Agreed.

He he said he was not anxious that the resolution should be immediately taken up. It might be two or three days upon the table.

Mr. Finley moved, that a petition from the Presbyterian Society of George-Town, signed by S. W. Balch, and others, for an act of incorporation, and to raise the sum of 3000 dollars by way of lottery, to build a meeting house be referred to a select committee of 3, and to report by bill or otherwise.

Petition of several refugees from Canada and Nova-Scotia, presented last session, and reported on, in favor of three of the petitioners. Moved to be referred to a select committee of 3. Agreed, and to report by bill or otherwise.

The petition of Jacob Jackson and Chas. Spencer, executors of Wm. Carter, was referred.

On motion of Mr. J. Lewis, jun. the petition of Ann B. West, by her agent John Pick, presented last session, was referred to a committee of claims.

Mr. Clay presented a petition from the manufacturers of hats in Philadelphia, complaining of great difficulty in procuring furrs from the Indians, by the interposition of the agent on that business; and praying that the furrs brought to him might be put up at auction.

Referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures.

Petitions of Jeremiah Beggin, E. Brown, Jacob Barnes, Edward Jenkins, and Thomas Dennis, presented, and referred to committees.

WEDNESDAY, December 11.

Mr. Dawson brought forward the amended bill, respecting the exportation of arms and ammunition.

Ordered to be engrossed.

(By this act, no arms, or warlike stores are to be exported out of the United States, until the end of the next session of Congress, either by land or water; and in case any such are found on board any vessel bound to a foreign port, or in any waggon or carriage, with intent to export the same by land the same shall be forfeited, it to the amount of five hundred dollars in value; and the captain or owner indicted, and on conviction fined one thousand dollars.)

Tribute of Gratitude, to GENERAL WM. EATON.

It fell to the lot of Mr. Bidwell, a new member from Massachusetts, to fulfil the pleasing duty of bringing this business forward.

He said, that in the late war between this country and Tripoli, great services were rendered, and great benefits derived from the gallant and meritorious services of William Eaton, Esq. He deserves, continued Mr. Bidwell, the thanks of his country, and together with his little army, are entitled to some distinguished mark of gratitude. He therefore moved the the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the President of the United States, be requested to present a SWORD, in the name of the Senate, and of the House of Representatives, in Congress assembled, to WILLIAM EATON, ESQ. as a testimony of their approbation of his gallant and good conduct, in leading his army through the desart of Lybia; and in conjunction with the ex-bashaw, and a small part of the naval force of the United States defeating the Tripolitan army, and taking the city of Derne; contributing thereby, to the successful termination of the war, and to the release of our fellow citizens from slavery."

Agreed, and ordered to be now read a second time, which was done. Referred to a committee of the whole, and made the order of the day for to-morrow.

Mr. T. Randolph wished to extend the time for bringing in claims for French spoilations, assumed by the United States. He stated, that three millions five hundred thousand dollars, was appropriated for that purpose, and that the time limited would expire with the present month, when several claims would not be brought in; and he moved that the remaining part of said sum of three millions five hundred thousand dollars, should stand in the Treasury, for the purposes contained in the bill. Carried.

Referred to a committee of the whole House, and made the order of the day for to-morrow.

Mr. Sloan, wished to take up the resolution he presented yesterday, for laying a duty of ten dollars on every slave imported into any part of the United States.

Upon motion of Mr. Williams, it was laid over until Monday fortnight.

Some petitions being presented, which we shall notice hereafter, the house—Adjourned.

VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

Governor PAGE's Letter to the Legislature of Virginia, at the commencement of December Session, 1805.

Richmond, December 2, 1805.

SIR,

AS it is proper to give the earliest notice of such proceedings of the Executive as require the approbation of the General Assembly, I have the honor to notify to them the appointment of Creed Taylor, Esq. to fill the vacancy occasioned on the bench of the General Court, by the death of the venerable and patriotic Joseph Jones, Esq. and to state that this appointment was made in obedience to an injunction of the 14th article of the Constitution, which ordains, "That the two Houses of Assembly shall by joint ballot appoint Judges of the Supreme Court of Appeals," &c. to be commissioned by the Governor, &c.—"In case of death, incapacity, or resignation, the Governor with the advice of the Privy Council, shall appoint persons to succeed in office to be approved or displaced by both Houses."

And I next lay before the General Assembly, the several papers herewith directed to your attention, which are marked alphabetically, from (A) to (G) reserving a few others for a future communication, which will be made as soon as the reports shall be prepared for the Executive.

The paper marked (A) contains a communication from the Governor of Pennsylvania, respecting an amendment of the constitution of the United States, proposed by the state of Kentucky, by confining the judiciary powers of the courts of the United States, to cases in law and equity arising under the Constitution and laws of the United States and treaties made or which shall be made under their authority—Cases affecting ambassadors or other public ministers and Consuls—Cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; and to controversies between two or more states; which amendment was adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania by their respective resolutions; in which also the concurrence and co-operation of each state in the union is requested. That marked (B) contains a letter from the Governor of Pennsylvania, dated April 5th, 1805, inclosing a copy of an act of the legislature of that state, on the subject of improving the navigation of the Ohio river, which has been passed in consequence of a resolution of the legislature of Kentucky, dated December 9, 1803, and requesting to receive early information of the names and places of such commissioners as may be appointed by the state of Virginia; that co operative measures may be taken by the commissioners of the states of Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky; and Ohio, who it is proposed shall be appointed to view the rapids of the river Ohio, and consider the proper means of opening and improving its navigation; and also to state an estimate of the expenses necessary for that purpose, and the reasonable proportion to be advanced by each of these states according to the probable advantages they may respectively receive."

Each of those important communications contains such a full and perfect statement and explanation of their respective objects, that they require no comments; but I cannot refrain from remarking that the former is favorable to the sovereignty of individual states, and the latter to their fraternal union, and mutual interest, and furnishes a precedent which, if observed, will forever render a consolidation of the states unnecessary.

Under the cover marked (C) is a letter from Cato West, Esq. Secretary of the Mississippi Territory, and acting as governor thereof, communicating a memorial of the Mayor, Aldermen, Assistant medical faculty, and other citizens of the city of Natches, addressed to the legislature of that Territory, soliciting their attention to the case of the Hospital establishment in that place, and praying that it may be recommended to the patronage and assistance of the states and Territories bordering on the Mississippi and Ohio, as well as of Congress; stating the justice and propriety of such an application: to which is annexed an act of the said Territory "to establish an Hospital in the city of Natches, and incorporating trustees of the same." An encouragement of this institution will be worthy of the friends of humanity, and of all who wish to cultivate a reciprocation of friendly offices between the sister states.

(D) Contains a report to the Richmond District court of the repairs necessary to be made to the jail of the said court.

(E) Contains a report of a committee appointed, by the district court holden at the Sweet Springs stating that the jail is in a decayed state, insufficient for the safe keeping of Prisoners, and does not appear ever to have been provided with a fire place or stove, which state of the jail makes a guard constantly necessary.

(F) The resignation of Brigadier General Scott.

(G) A letter from John A. Chevalie, requesting that a sum of money may be appropriated to satisfy two decrees of the High Court of Appeals, therein referred to.

I have the honor to be, with great respect and esteem, your most obedient servant,

JOHN PAGE.

Hon. the Speaker of the Senate.

MOUNT VESUVIUS.

Naples, August 13.

Yesterday (says a letter) at 10 o'clock at night, the eruption of Vesuvius, of which the earthquake seemed to be the forerunner took place. We were going to visit the Crater, when the cries of the people, and a volume of flame informed us that the volcano had opened. The lava precipitated itself in three seconds from the last peak of the mountain, and took a direction towards the valley situated between Torre del Greco and Torre del l'Annunziata, two towns on the sea coast beyond Portici, and seven or eight miles from Naples.

"We set off immediately to see this wonderful and tremendous phenomenon nearer. From the place of our departure, we saw the whole course of the Lava, which extended nearly two miles from the Crater, to the houses that join the two towns. The sight was the most magnificiently frightful that could be seen. I contemplated the cascades of flame pouring from the top of the mountain, and shuddered at seeing an immense torrent of fire ravage the finest fields, overthrow houses, and destroy in a few minutes, the hopes and resources of a hundred families.

"A line of fire marked the profile of the mountain; a cloud of smoke, which seemed to send forth from time to time flashes of lightning, hung over the scene, and the moon appeared to be pale. Nothing can adequately describe the grandeur of the scene, or give an accurate idea of the horror of it. As we approached the spot ravaged by this river of hell, ruined inhabitants having quitted their houses: desolated families trying to save their furniture or provisions, last and feeble resource: an immense crowd of curious persons retreating, step by step from the advancing lava, and testifying, by extraordinary cries, their wonder, fear and pity: the frightful bellowing of the mountain, the frequent explosions which burst from the bosom of the torrent, the crackling of the trees devoured by the flames, the noise of the walls falling, and the lugubrious sound of a bell which the religious of the Camaldules, isolated on a little hill & surrounded by two torrents of fire, rang in their distress—such are the details of the frightful scene to which I was a witness.

"The moment we arrived, the lava was crossing the great road below Torre del Greco. To see it better we got into a beautiful house on the road side—from the terrace we saw the fire at no more than 15 paces from us: in a minute we descended, and twenty minutes afterwards there remained of the house but three large walls. I approached as near as the heat and flow of the current would permit me. I attempted at different times to burn the end of my handkerchief in it: I could only do it by tying it to my cane. The lava does not run in liquid waves: it resembles an immense quantity of coals on fire, which an invincible strength had heaped up and pushed on with violence. When it met with a wall, it collected to the height of seven or ten feet, burnt it, and overthrew it at once. I saw some walls get red hot like iron, and melt, if I may use the expression, into the lava. In its greatest speed and on a horizontal road, I reckoned that the torrent traveled at the rate of 18 inches a minute.—Its smell resembled that of iron red hot."

The Subscriber has FOR SALE,

53,500 ACRES of Land in Harden county, Kentucky, binding for 20 miles on the western shore of Knolelinn, and lying about 25 miles from Harden court house. Knolelinn is navigable from the land into Green river, and is the best fish stream in Kentucky.

This land, though near the Barrens, is well wooded, and remarkably well watered. The outlines include 70,000 acres, but there are 16 or 17,000 acres of elder surveys within the lines, which are accurately laid down by actual survey made three years ago, for the purpose of ascertaining interferences. There is no land in Kentucky more free from dispute than the quantity offered for sale. On these elder surveys there are two mills and many families, and on the subscribers land there are about a dozen families, desirous of buying their settlements, and he has reason to believe 100 families more would have purchased and settled on the land in the present year, had it suited his affairs to have sold out in single parcels; that part of the country possessing health, and many local advantages, and being near the centre of the state.

Samuel Turner of this town, knows this land well, and will take the trouble to give a just description of its quality, to those who may desire it.

This land, if applied for prior to the 20th December, will be sold at 50 cents per acre, on bond with interest, payable in 1, 2, 3 & 4 years. If the bonds be satisfactorily secured, unquestionable title will at once be given for the land.
